New Lottery Director Greg Smith Shares Thoughts, Experiences

Newly appointed Acting Lottery Director, Greg Smith, comes to Illinois from Vermont, where he led the Vermont Lottery to its largest-ever sales and profits.

A big believer in stakeholder input, collaboration and feedback, Smith is confident there is ample room for growth in Illinois.

“The Illinois Lottery’s retail partners are the foundation of the success that lottery enjoys,” Smith said. “They connect us to our customers, and being in retailers’ stores is the best way to see how that works. I have been visiting various lottery retail locations around the state to better shape my knowledge. I hope all of you had a prosperous 2016 and have a better 2017.”

Smith and his wife, Megan, have ties to Illinois and Chicago. Megan was raised in central Illinois near Galesburg, and one daughter works in Chicago for a company that provides catering to companies looking for “beyond-the-norm” food service for clients and employees. The Smiths raised their two daughters while working as owner-operators of an 18-room Vermont Country Inn. Much of the insight gained from this 13-year labor of love transfers to other business entities, Smith said, including lottery.

Shelves, Sales and Service Counters, and Check-Out Aisles

When sales or service counters are provided, the counters must be accessible, if doing so is readily achievable. This access is an important part of receiving the goods and services provided by a business. At counters having a cash register, a section of counter at least 36 inches long and not more than 36 inches above the floor will make the counter accessible. This provides a lowered surface where goods, services and money can be exchanged. An alternative solution is to provide an auxiliary counter nearby.

The obligation to remove barriers also applies to merchandise shelves, sales and service counters, and check-out aisles. Shelves and counters must be on an accessible route with enough space to allow customers using mobility devices to access merchandise.
